Hail Insurance

The same this season as last. I am representing nothing but the strongest Insurance organizations on the continent, this for your protection as well as good business on my part.

The district suffered heavily from hail last season, the companies enumerated below gladly paid their losses, one hundred cents on the dollar.

Alliance Hail Insurance Co. Canadian Indemnity Ins. Co.
Phoenix Fidelity Ins. Co. British Traders Insurance Co.
Excess Insurance Co. United Grain Growers

Connecticut of Hartford Insurance Co.

Bee Hail Insurance, Paris, France.

These Companies have assets ranging from $10,000,000 to $135,000,000, which is behind every policy.

The rates are considerably reduced this year. East of the 5th Meridian, 80 cents; West of the 5th Meridian, 90 cents.

We will call on you in ample time, wait and get our proposition.

Baseball Season Opens With Win For Locals

Splendid weather and a big crowd of fans greeted the opening game of Rosebud League baseball season on Tuesday, May 24th between Didsbury and Olds. The game was somewhat on the order of a sweat-fest and the ball was kept sailing through the air like an aeroplane.

The Didsbury aggregation had the edge on their opponents almost throughout the entire game, and while Olds picked up well in the sixth and seventh innings Studer, put in the box at the sixth, managed to keep them sweating in the last two innings, the score being 23-15 in favor of Didsbury.

In the first three innings Didsbury piled up 17 runs. Keith, the local twirler, holding down the visitors to only two runs and doing splendid work until his arm gave out in the fifth.

There were some conventional periods during the game in spite of the score. Scheidt made a pretty catch way off right centre which brought the crowd up standing and again in the seventh when Studer made a swipe that sent the ball out of sight in right field and brought him in on a home run, the first of the season and consequently he was the tall dangled by Mayor Chambers. Shannon for Olds also let out a liner for the tall timber which happened to be a tall pile of telephone poles laying away out in centre field and he negotiated a meary-go-round to the home plate. Freeman in the second hit the ball a crack that caught in two men and put him on second which started the ball rolling up the big score.

The game was plentifully sprinkled with errors on both sides but the Didsbury outfit showed much the better form for the final game than their opponents.

Messrs. Wales and Allen enjoyed the game to the great satisfaction of both players and fans. Their decisions were just and there never was any question about their decisions.

The line-up was as follows:

Didsbury	Olds
Woods S. S.	Hamilton
Rother 2nd.	Main
Studer L. F.	Craig
Clemens C.	Shannon
Freeman R. F.	Samis
Geoghegan 3rd B.	Leigh
Liesemer 1st. B.	Hanson
Scheidt C.	Michelin
Batteries— Didsbury, Keith and Clemens; Olds, J. Shannon and P.
Shannon.

BASEBALL NOTES

Bert Fisher has been made manager and Harold Clemens Captain of the locals which appears to meet with very popular approval.

The management desire to state that the team is willing to meet any team in the district for a friendly game between scheduled dates and such games can be arranged by applying to the manager.

Practice, practice and then practice, should be the slogan for the locals. They are a fine bunch of players and sizing them up at the first game gave a very favorable impression to their large number of supporters, even some of the Olds roosters being magnanimous enough to concede this. But they need practice.

A fine bunch of roosters came down from Olds to support their team and Didsbury should send up as big a bunch on Friday night when the next game is to be played at Olds.

Fined For Letting Horses Run at Large

A case of some interest to owners of horses, cattle and other live stock was heard last week by A. J. Malmae, J. P., when T. S. Schwartzbold was charged with allowing his horses to run at large in the town. Messrs. G. Liesemer and Bert Fisher were the main witnesses for the town and testified that they found those horses running around loose late at night and eventually caught them and put them in pound, after which they notified Constable Sick. Accused was fined $10 and costs. Mr. W. A. Anstин appeared for the town while Mr. Smith of Carstairs, looked after the defendants side of the case.

Join the Red Cross

When the Great War ended—yes, even before the joyful news of the signing of the Armistice—the statesmen and thoughtful men of all countries turned their attention to a consideration of the gigantic problem confronting civilization in its repair of the awful damage inflicted on the world. It was not the material damage so much that was the cause of deep concern, for, given time and money, destroyed cities, towns, industrial establishments, railways, roads and home buildings could be restored.

The real problem were the people themselves. With millions of the world's most splendid and virile young men killed or maimed and weakened to life; with millions of women hopeless nervous wrecks as a result of the strain and hardships and sorrows through which they had passed; with millions of babies and young children under-nourished during the most vital years when wholesome food and plenty of it should have been forthcoming; and with the general view of everybody far from normal, in many ways a distorted, what all thoughtful men and women asked themselves was the future of the race, mentally, morally, physically? And if the race is to rank in those respects what the State itself, because after all, a nation is just what its people are. It is not wealth, or great industries, or large cities, or famous buildings that make a nation, but the people themselves.

The war had made vividly clear some things which a quarter of a century of peace might not have revealed with so much impressiveness. The war had given us a revelation; for it may fittingly be called a revelation of the relative worth and ability of the ordinary man and woman. During the war the valour, soldier, sacrifice and sternmien stuck to their duties and did them with a courage and endurance which have never been surpassed. The spirit of the race had not decayed. But the war had revealed also the shockingly poor physical condition of a great proportion of the men in all countries. In the alleged progress of civilization, in the organization of industries, in the development of big business for creating and controlling wealth, regard for the intrinsic worth of human life—of men and women in good health living and working under wholesome conditions—had been to a large extent neglected.

Thinking of the significance of these figures: During the last year of war, the number of men called up to the army in Great Britain was 24,518,184. Out of every nine men, three were fit and healthy, two were in inferior health, three might be described as physical wrecks, and one as a chronic invalid with a precarious hold on life. Since that was the physical condition of men at their most vigorous age, what would be the condition of health among the women and children? In other countries the examination of the men called to the colors revealed conditions somewhat similar. In Canada, with all her advantages of open spaces and outdoor lives, of the 36,695 draftees under the Military Service Act, 181,229, or about one-half, were found to be unfit for full service in the field. Even without war the races seemed to be heading for physical deterioration and disaster.

As a result of these shocking and altogether alarming disclosures, when the Covenant of the League of Nations was drafted, Article XXV was inserted which binds every nation joining the League to encourage and promote a national Red Cross Society having as purposes "the improvement of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world." The Red Cross was selected for this important work because of its international character, its splendid organization, and its wonderful record during the war.

It is the profound conviction of those who are impressed with the importance and possibilities of the ideals expressed in the Red Cross programme as above outlined that their realization is possible through the endorsement and support which universal membership in the Red Cross alone can give. Widespread and popular membership in the Red Cross, therefore, the necessary condition of success in its Peace-time programme.

To attain that universal membership, a world-wide enrolment campaign is being held this year. The dates in the three Prairie Provinces of Canada are June 5 to 11. Membership in the Red Cross involves an annual fee of one dollar for adults, and of twenty-five cents for boys and girls under 18 years of age, but this is the only—and incidental—financial aspect of the membership enrolment campaign.

It is the intelligent interest, the native sympathy, the whole-hearted support of all people in a nation wide, yes, world-wide, Crusade for Good Health that the Red Cross desires, and to assure this it asks every man, woman and child to join the Red Cross during the week of June 5 to 11.

Following all previous wars, the Red Cross with its work for the time being completed, fell into a state of disorganization. When the war drums sounded in 1914, the Red Cross had to undertake all the work of home organization before it could begin its work for the soldiers in the field. Now, however, while carrying on its great Peace-time programme for the welfare and betterment of all mankind, it will be maintained fully organized, efficient and ready to act should Canada ever again be called to arms.

The Red Cross demonstrated that it was worthy of support during the war. Having now highly resolved to dedicate itself to the task of carrying out the obligations imposed upon it in the Covenant of the League of Nations, it can be trusted to faithfully endeavor to render real Peace-time service to Canada and its people. Therefore—Join the Red Cross.

Good Canadian Citizens

Scandinavians Are Hardworking and Intensely Patriotic.

A most gratifying feature of Scandinavian settlement in Canada is that it is almost wholly agricultural, and in the west they will be found in the richest and most progressive districts. While retaining their national individuality, their customs, language and religion, they are British in sentiment and intensely patriotic, as their fine contribution to Canada's army evidenced. With an inherent realization of their own worth they stand with open hearts and open minds in their own country, and are absorbed as Canadians without losing their individual qualities. Clean-blooded, thrifty, ambitious and hardworking, they are of the best of Europe's contribution to a pioneer nation.

DIET NOT EVERYTHING IN KEEPING HEALTHY

Governor Compels Every Building To Have a Ladder.

Finland takes more precautions than any other nation to protect itself against fire. Indeed, it is notable for fire escapes, for government buildings, especially for office buildings, so dwelling as provided with means by which the occupants can escape in the event of an outbreak of fire. Ladder making for domestic use is one of the country's most profitable industries. From the most palatial to the poorest every home in the country must have its ladder resting against the wall on the outside or lying along the ground within easy reach.

The government regulation, which makes it obligatory upon the owners of every building to provide it with a ladder, is an old one, and is an echo of the days when the houses and towns of the country were entirely of wood. Modern building construction of stone and brick has made no change in the law.

WHEN BABY IS SICK

When the baby is sick—when he is cross and is peevish, cries a great deal and is continually crying the mother has a remedy—Baby's Own Tablets. They are an ideal medicine but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation and the common breast feeding and simple remedies make nothing. Concerning them Mrs. Philippe Payen St. Clavien, Ques., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have always been a great help to me in the care of my baby and can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. William's Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Why Rain Melts Rocks

Due to Carbonic and Nitric Acid In Water.

When we see great boulders of hard rock such as granite, it seems almost incredible that rain has the power of melting them.

In rain there are two things in addition to water which assist this wonderful process. These are nitric acid and carbonic acid, and these are formed in the rain when the oxygen and nitrogen become charged with electricity as sunlight happens during thunderstorms.

Of these two acids that slow cat their way into the rocks, perhaps carbonic is the more important.

By its action it gradually melts the hard calcareous upon which the rain falls and so transforms it, first into sandstone and afterwards into sand.

Of course this process is a very slow one, but it goes on with a wonderful certainty.

These two acids in rain are even more important in their relation to life, for carbonic and nitric acids form part of the food upon which all plants live.

Alberta Erecting Wireless Station

Will Be Tallest and Most Powerful in Province.

With six airplane hangars already erected on the High River government aerodrome field in Southern Alberta and with the office building completed, the tenders for the erection of the most powerful wireless station in the province and the workshops have just been received, and it is expected that work will start on these projects within the next two or three weeks.

The wireless station will be able to send messages to Vancouver and over the Pacific coast, and will be taller and more powerful than any erected in this province. The pole will have been erected within about ten days.

The six hangars now completed on the field are modern, complete hangars, which were brought over from France, where they were used by the Royal Air Force during the war. Each of them will accommodate about three aeroplanes.

Disturbing Element.

A well-do Scottish woman one day said to her gardener:

"Man Tammas, I wonder you don't get married. You're a nice house, and all you want to complete it is a wife."

You know the first gardener that ever lived had a wife."

"Quite right, m'lady, quite right," said Thomas, "but he didn't keep his job long after he got the wife"—The Watchman, Examiner, New York.

Census To Be Taken Next Month

SOME INTERESTING INFORMATION FOR EVERYONE

The sixth Dominion census of population and other statistics will be taken over the whole of Canada commencing on June 1st, and MacLeans Magazine, of May 15, contains some very interesting information in an article entitled "Canada Counts Noses" on that subject, from which we quote the following as there are heavy penalties provided for those who refuse to comply with the requests of the enumerators and there is some very interesting information contained in it.

Canada Was First

Getting an approximate idea of the number of inhabitants in the country—in ancient times principally for military purposes—is a system that is as old as civilization itself. Nations whose glory rose and faded before the birth of Christ left behind records which show that they divided their territory up into military districts and made an official count of the men of military age in each district. Almost every succeeding civilization practised a similar method.

But in the northeast half of this continent, now our own Dominion of Canada, the first systematic census of the people, later copied by other world nations, was taken, according to historians. An Australian authority says the first systematic enumeration was taken in what is now the province of Quebec in the year 1666.

Early on the morning of June first next, Johnny Canuck will set forth with an indestructible pencil over his ear and a bundle of crackling blue printed forms under his arm. He will transform himself into a walking question-mark, knocking loudly at every door in his huge domain and politely demanding information of an intimate nature regarding every human being who slept under each and every roof the night before, even to the ruddy babe whose birth cry has but barely announced the arrival of a new Canadian.

As a matter of official supposition, Johnny Canuck will count every living soul in the Dominion of Canada between sunrise and sunset on the day of June first, because all tabulations will be entered as matters exist in Canada on that date. As a matter of fact, the Dominion bureau of statistics hopes to have the sixth Census of Canada completed in one month from June first. Two weeks is the time allotted for gathering and turning in all data from cities and towns. Rural sections and unorganized districts will take twice the time allowed in the urban centres.

Public interest centers in one definite quest of the censuses: How many people will the census show to be living in Canada on June first, 1921?

This is a question in whose answer every Canadian man, woman and school child will take a leading interest, though the matter of enumerating the people is but one of many national details included in the coming census.

Expect to Count 9,000,000

An unofficial surmise, based on certain official indications, is that the population of the Dominion of Canada will be found to be somewhere around 9,000,000, more or less. The last Dominion census, taken in 1911, discovered 7,206,613 inhabitants. Even the best informed hesitate about making predictions. Old experienced statisticians have seen distinct surprises uncovered in this work, the most unexpected on record following the census taking of 1901. In that year, previous to the compilation of returns it was generally conceded at Ottawa that the total

Renew Your Membership In The RED CROSS

During the war everybody gave to the Red Cross. In these Western Provinces, hundreds of thousands of citizens joined in the greatest flood of gifts ever poured through a single voluntary organization.

Because the need was vital, the emergency ever pressing, there was little if any question of membership. Everybody belonged to and was a part of the war-time organization of the Red Cross.

Red Cross now has peace-time duties just as important to humanity as its greatest service of devotion in time of war. The Red Cross Societies of the world have leagued together in a broad-gauge, carefully planned continuous campaign

For the Improvement of Health, the Prevention of Disease and the Mitigation of Suffering Throughout the World.

This work is to be carried out at home, right here in our own country by our own Red Cross and simultaneously in every one of the thirty-one countries associated in the World League of Red Cross Societies.

The Red Cross peace-time crusade for good health is separate and distinct from the war work of the Red Cross or the great task that it is still carrying on, growing out of its care of those who suffered in the war. To endorse, support and carry on its peace programme the Red Cross asks the approval of every citizen through the enrollment of his or her individual membership. The Membership Fee is $1.00 per year. The payment of this dollar when you enroll your name is all the money the Red Cross is asking of you.

The House On Mercy Street

By Florence Kerigan

Miss Angela set her finger on a tiny little bell, and at once the throng of boys who were whooping madly up and down the hall and in and out of the rooms of the house on Mercy Street, came together in the living room and settled down to listen to the afternoon story.

They just adored Miss Angela. From the time she rented the little house and turned it into a clubhouse for the rough, tough dirty little boys of the neighborhood, they loved her. They exhibited her to their rough, tough, dirty friends with pride, and gradually became less rough, and less tough, and washed their faces now and then.

On that particular afternoon, when the soft air blow in the open window and made her fair hair stand out from her head like a mischievous halo, and shook the faint perfume out of the bowl of blues on the table, she announced that she was going to tell them a story of lights and fair ladies and the spring. She settled herself in the seat of honor, and swept the circle of faces with her brown eyes which Able Rabineowitz said were "just like these here, now, plucky flowers, ain't they?" brown eyes which smiled at them all, from Able to the mysterious, well-dressed, perfect-manured Jack who came in every day to play.

Then, very simply and dramatically, she told the story of Sir Galahad and the Holy Grail, and all her hearers listened spellbound. And when it came to an end, they sat silent for a moment, then clamed for another.

Next, she told them a rollicking Irish folk-talk that made them laugh, and followed it with others until a factory whistle told her it was five o'clock and closing time for the clubhouse.

They found their hats and trooped out, but Miss Angela remained, and her shoulders drooped with sudden sadness.

That morning she had received a letter saying that she would have to leave the dear little house on Mercy Street, as the landlord wanted it for one of his friends. She had at once called up several influential men and tried to interest them in a campaign for establishing a community clubhouse to carry on the work begun, but without result. One of the men, John Davenport, told her frankly, that he was decidedly against such work—that the poor of the city could rise if they wished, without such waste of money. Still, with a heavy heart Miss Angela fought the thought of giving up her boys.

On Friday afternoon the boys were grouped about the piano singing a few favorite songs when a man's figure stopped in the doorway.

Miss Angela recognized the clean-cut, rather stern face of Mr. Davenport, and wondered what had brought him there. At the same instant Jack cried, "Dad!"

"Jack, what are you doing here? The man's voice was well under control, but Miss Angela could see that he was very angry.

Jack stepped out bravely. "Dad, I'm sorry it's to be this way—but Hannah wouldn't let me come when I asked her. And they were having such fun! I got so tired playing by myself, Dad! Here we have the grandest times! Mickey Mulligan's—Mickey over there, has a sister and two rabbits and some white mice, and his father sings the funniest songs. And Able Rabineowitz lives at a jeweler's store and his father lets me look at some stones just like those of Mother's."

"Why, it's preposterous!" gasped Mr. Davenport. "I'm surprised at you, Jack. You with all you have and all you are, coming here like this and playing with dirty ragamuffins!"

Jack squared his shoulders. "I haven't a thing. I haven't a mother to sing to me or smooth my hair or make me little cakes like Jimmy Casey's mother does, and I have no rabbits or cats or even a puppy—why, I've never even had hampos or meaties! And I can't sing like Romolo Galante, or paint like Olaf Nels. I've just got a lot of old money that won't buy the things I want!" His lip quivered suddenly. "I love them all so much—and—and—I never loved anybody before!"

"Old money that won't buy what I want!" The words struck deep, and made him think of the sweet wife money had not been able to hold—or the happiness that money had not brought him—or the mansion which held everything but love and joy.

Micky Mulligan stepped to Jack's side. "If ye please, he's a good guy even if he is a swell, and we like him, sort."

"Suppose you boys go outside and play?" in a softer tone. "Miss Sheridan, will you tell me about this business?"

Miss Angela drew up a chair for her guest, and told him the whole story of the club and what she tried to make it stand for all the love it made her eloquent. Her enthusiasm was infectious and at the end of an hour it was making plans with her host. Ideas that would broaden into athletic activities. She shook her head, sadly.

"We're not all millionaires, Mr. Davenport."

"Don't you understand? I want to do it with you. You must count me in on it. Why, I would take a million dollars for the way these boys treat my son and the happiness they and you have given him. So, I'll see an architect tomorrow and we'll have a regular clubhouse right in this neighborhood!"

In spite of his protestations, he carried out his purpose and formed a habit of dropping in during their play hour and showing her the latest plans and taking over new things he had thought of.

Then, one day, he brought some new plans for her inspection. "Don't you think," wistfully, laying them before her, "that you could make a home out of one of these for you and me and a lonely little boy that never loved anyone before?"

Miss Angela promptly became very sorry and confused, but her answer must have been satisfactory, for some months later, the boys all met for a feast of ice-cream and cake on a very joyous occasion. And they presented her with a solid silver spoon bought with their own savings from Able Rabineowitz's father who was a jeweler.

Another Hen Breaks Record.

A hen owned by T. N. Mitchel, of Byron Central, Mich., laid double-yolked eggs every day for three weeks and then produced an egg that weighed six ounces and measured nine and five sixteenths inches around the long way and one half inch around the centre. It contained two yolks besides perfect normal six-edged eggs.

For 16 centuries the little republic of San Marino has maintained its independence, although Italy entirely surrounds it.

A Friend To the Aged!

When men and women get past middle life, their energy and activity, in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

The heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves more or less irritable. Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and here and there evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

What can we do to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should uss Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

They make the heart beat strong and rhythmic, and strengthen the nervous system, improve the memory, and impart a sense of buoyancy to the entire system.

Dr. J. W. Perry, Retired, A.M.A., writes:—Some months ago I was not feeling well, my heart bothered me quite a lot, and my whole system seemed out of order. I sent and got Price 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by Dr. J. W. Perry, Retired, A.M.A., 50c, while the value of dairy butter amounted to $25,972,500.

Why The Complaint.

Leaders of the Welsh miners protest against the use of troops which they term violence. Anything more violent than threatening the country with starvation by stopping all trains and stopping industry is hard to imagine.

Worm as Thin as Straw.

Seaweed boasts a seaworm of extreme slenderness, like a fine straw, which is eaten like the oyster, boiled raw and cooked.

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember it's just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows no favors, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, lack the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little-ones. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrups was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Baker and
Mrs. Kiever.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me a lot of good, I am pleased to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did not last very long, Admiral Tudder said Lord Fisher came into his room and told him he had just had a long conversation with the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who had agreed to the building of light craft up to light cruisers to any extent. The Chancellor of the Exchequer had not said how big the light cruisers were to be, so Lord Fisher said, "We will build two whoppers with 15-in. guns, big enough to knock any German light cruiser of the sea." This was the origin of the Furious, the Glorious and other ships of that class.

Dairy Products in Alberta.

The value of creamery butter produced in the Province of Alberta during the year 1920 amounted to $5,512,500, while the value of dairy butter amounted to $25,972,500.

His Flesh Horribly Burnt

His draggin sold him a cheap Acid candle recently, instead of giving him good old tallow candles, which he has had for fifty years. The Standard remover of corns and warts, "Punam" never fails, it is always a success, 25¢ everywhere. Refuse a substitute.

The planet Venus moves around the sun at an average speed of 22 miles per second.

German Prison Camps.

The Leipzig trials of German offenders may not bring many convictions or heavy penalties, but the evidence taken in London in respect to prison camps shows that the prosecution is strong. Accounts given by former prisoners provoke indignation, but only confirm the statements of Canadian prisoners who have passed through some of these camps—Vancouver Province.

Old Fort Ellis and Sioux Indians

Crossing the Plains to Fort Carlton
Summer 1875.

By O-G-E-M-A-S-E-S (Little Clerk).

On looking over my last article it may be that my readers will be left with the impression that Chief Factor Archie McDonald was a tyrannical, unjust man, but this was by no means the case. You, however, must understand that Hudson's Bay officers in charge of districts at this time had practically absolute powers. Truly Canada had taken over the country but her jurisdiction for all practical purposes ended when you left Fort Garry (now Winnipeg), and in the great realm of the Northwest the H. B. Co. ruled supreme. They had jails at many of their head posts with handcuffs and leg irons for unruly servants, or law-breaking Indians, and they used them when required. Give absolute authority to any man and he is apt to become more or less of a despot. Shortly after leaving the Hudson's Bay service in 1883, and being at that time in poor health and circumstances, Mr. Archie McDonald was exceedingly kind and helped me to get a start on my own account.

To resume our trip across the plains. The rate of progress daily was governed by that of the loaded carts, whose squeals from wooden axles could be heard for miles, in spite of constant applications of grease. Twenty to twenty-five miles daily was a fair average and one must know that the ponies subsisted entirely on grass, as oats were unknown in the wilds. Consequently the men would start with the carts very early in the morning, while the bourgeois and us clerks would have breakfast much later and easily catch up with the train for dinner. Ahead of the party rode Chief Guide Jean Homme, generally with me by his side, thirsting to imbibe all the plainsman's lore possible, and sometimes the other clerks were with us. Armed guards had to be set nightly, and the horses watched very carefully, for stealing was rife, and no doubt our large brigade was spied upon from time to time by scouting Indians. The prairie was covered with fresh buffalo sign and the guide's opinion was that a large herd was just to the south of us. In fact a few old bulls were sighted by our riders, but Mr. Ewen would not allow any hunting for fear of halting or injuring the horses, and this much to the disgust of we youngsters who were all anxious to shoot a buffalo.

About the tenth day out we met a small war party of Saulteaux coming in from the great plains to the southwest, en route to Fort Qu'Appelle. They met us all marching on foot, with drums beating, their headmen rigged out in scarlet cloth, paint and feathers galore. There was the usual noise and smoke, and a smoke, then small presents were handed to them by Mr. McDonald, and, in return, we received a welcome supply of tender young buffalo meat just killed the day before. They had no carts, only travois, that is the lode poles two of them lashed on each side of a pony, parchment faced areas behind the horse and on this robes, dressed buffaloes leather dried meat and pemican were piled, even their large split eared dogs were laden in the same way. With the exception of a violent wind storm that made things lively for a while, nothing of importance happened until we reached the south branch of the Saskatchewan, and here we had some fun in crossing the river, there being no ferry. We made raids of the large wooden cart wheels over which buffalo parchments were laid.

scurvy, and in the centre of these rude craft were placed the women and children, all baggage, freight, etc. Swimmers were the motive power, and I could not say how many times I crossed the river. The large band of ponies were left to the last and Jean Homme and I took them across, he explaining that on no account must we allow them to circle, but keep them going in a direct course, the remedy if one turned being to splash water in their faces. All went well but it took several days before the whole outfit was safely across. Another day's travel took us to Fort Carlton, which, unlike Ellis, was situated in the valley of the North Branch, close to the river we were driving. Being without the loss of a pony a load of freight, much to the satisfaction of Chief Factor, Little Clark who ruled supreme over the Saskatchewan district, with Carlton as headquarters. The fort was much on the same plan as Ellis, but in better order. This fine establishment was burnt in 1885 by accident, as the Mounted Police and Volunteers were evacuating it, after the defeat at Duck Lake.

I was detailed to lead a band in the trading store and duty my cravat while companies left for their various destinations. Some days after our arrival a packet arrived by canoe from Cumberland House (down the river), and that evening I was summoned to the office, where, in addition to Mr. Clarke, was Inspector Chief Factor, Robert Hamilton. They informed me there was a pressing vacancy at Cumberland, and they were considering changing my appointment from Mackenzie River to that point, but they would like to hear my views. It was all one to me, and so I told them, and it was then decided that I go down the river on the first opportunity. Mr. Hamilton, who came from Peterborough, Ont., and was an old friend of my father's, gave me much wise and kindly advice as to my future in the service where he had spent practically his life time.

Several weeks passed in very pleasant company as Mr. Clarke had a lovely daughter and there were several other girls in the fort. Picnics, duck shooting and boating were the principal amusements and we, as birds of passage, were not asked to work very hard. A York boat arrived from up the river, and I received orders to embark next morning. The crew were Red River half-breeds and took up my place in the stern thwart after saying good-bye all round. We stopped at Ft. La Come for a short time, our Geys. Goodfellow was in charge, and I did not think then we would have stirring times together later on, but that, to quote Kipling, is another story. Drifting at night and occasionally rowing in the daytime four days took us to the mouth of the Big Stone River, which empties out Cumberland Lake into the Saskatchewan. A short pull against a strong current took us up to Cumberland Lake, which is quite an extensive sheet of water, and a few minutes more we were at the wharf of the old historic Cumberland House which, it is said, was the first post established by the Hudson's Bay Company on the Saskatchewan River. Here resided Supreme Factor Horace Belanger, a French-Canadian, a man of great girth and jovial temperament, very widely known and much liked. He was a half-brother of Letellier de St. Just, at one time Lieutenant Governor of the province of Quebec.

Could Not Escape Law

Man Wanted In Saskatoon Arrested In Scotland.

Saskatoon.—The long arm of the law reached out from Saskatoon to Edinburgh, Scotland, and gathered in Joseph Murray, alias Joshua Murray, wanted here since last December for a $700 forgery. Tattooed figures of women and King William on horseback betrayed Murray to the Scottish police. The man will be brought back here for trial.

Belgium-Luxembourg Treaty.

Brussels.—An agreement has been reached after months of negotiations between Belgium and Luxembourg and a treaty was initiated by M. Janssens, for Belgium and Emile Reuter, the Luxembourg foreign minister.

Ex-Kaiser's Son Convicted.

Berlin.—Eduard Frederick, second son of former Emperor William, was found guilty of illegally exporting capital to Holland through the firm of Philippson, Grusser & Company.

Leader of Progressive Agriculture

Mr. F. Holley Atwell, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Saskatchewan.

Russians Sent Back To Canada

Russian Soviet Government Refused Them Admittance to Country.

New York.—Russians from Canada who attempted to return to Russia on the steamer Bulldog, have been refused admission, and have been forced to return to Canada, according to a cablegram received at the office of "Soviet Russia" in New York. The message was sent by Maxine Litvinoff, representative of the Russian Soviet Government at Revel, and is dated May 17.

The message reads:

"The steamer Bulldog with a number of Russians from Canada arrived at Revel, but on account of our refusal to admit the passengers and crew, was compelled to take them back. Give this fact the widest publicity, warning Russians against any attempt to reach Russia without passes vise by Soviet representatives."

Fix Time Limit For Disarmament

Allies Demand Reduction of German Army By June 30.

Berlin.—The time limit for disarmament by Germany is fixed absolutely as June 30, in an allied note presented to the German Government. The note, which concerns execution of the recent armistice, demands that the organization of the German army of 100,000 be brought into conformity with the peace treaty by June 15, superfluous munitions and unauthorised offices, equipment surrendered by May 31 and all arms in possession of civilians by June 30.

Germany is required to endorse by May 30 the list of munition factories authorized by the Allies, and stop the output of unauthorized factories. The note further deals with the question of peace and demands a reduction in all classes of forces to a total of 150,000 by July 15.

Swedes Lower Cost Of Production

Wage Earners Resist Effort But Starts Has Been Made.

Stockholm.—An effort to reduce wages and cost of production to the present lower level of prices is being resisted by Swedish wage earners generally, but a start has been made in the wood pulp and cellulose industry where wages have been lowered 15 per cent.

One of the largest electrical companies has also come to an agreement with its operatives for an adjustment to a lower basis.

Development of Holy Land.

London.—Headquarters of the World Zionist Organization received a declaration of the British Colonial Office that the British Government desires it clearly understood that in accepting the mandate for Palestine it is determined to maintain order in the country, and to develop all its natural resources for the benefit of the entire population.

Old Time Engineer At Age Of 76 Goes Back To Work On C.N.R.R.

"Although I am now past seventy-six ticks of work," My knees were actually as stiff as boards and of morning I had an awful time trying to get clothes on; why, the palms nearly killed me. My appetite went back on me and I got so I didn't want to eat a thing. I didn't know what a good night's rest meant and I was as weak as a baby.

"But it's all over with now, thank goodness. Tafile has simply made a clean sweep of all my troubles and I feel like a man made all over again. Those pals have all disappeared and so has that stiffness and I am eating heartily and sleeping fitly I used to years ago. I take pleasure in speaking a good word for Tafile. It has certainly done great work for me." Tafile is sold by leading druggists so crippled up I couldn't do anywhere.

Lloyd George Says Britain Must Support Treaty

Premier Will Make No Retraction From Statements Regarding Silesia.

London.—Mr. Lloyd George issued a statement reiterating the British attitude toward the Upper Silesian question expressed by him in his recent speech in the House of Commons and disclaiming responsibility for the "distorted reports in the French press."

In the course of the statement, Mr. Lloyd George said: "The fate of Upper Silesia must be decided by the Supreme Council, and not by Russia." He continued: "Children of the treaty cannot be allowed to break crockery in Europe with impunity. Somebody must place great stress on that; otherwise there will be continual trouble."

Crowds Jeer London Radicals Soldiers Take Places Of Women Clerks

Meeting Broken Up By Cheers For King and Queen.

London.—The tempest of the people toward the Communists who were permitted to preach their doctrines here unobstructed, was shown by an incident in Trafalgar Square the other day.

After the strains of the "Red Flag" had been started at a Communist meeting, a former officer, wounded so badly he could scarcely stand, stood up in front of the crowd shouting several thousand, and called for cheers for the King.

The response to his appeal was ear-splitting. This so enraged one of the women members of the Communist crowd that she rushed upon the officer and cut off his round. Therefore he called for three cheers for the Queen, the Prince of Wales and finally for law and order. This broke up the meeting.

May Get Share Of First Payment

Canada Entitled to Portion of Reparations Money.

Ottawa.—A small proportion of the first German payment on reparations may come to Canada. The payment of 150,000,000 gold mark made, will, it is stated here, be applied to the cost of the Allied army of occupation. As Canada contributed a small number of men to the army of occupation for a short time immediately after the armistice, she may be the recipient of an amount partially to cover her expenditure.

New Flying Director.

Vancouver.—Captain A. G. Goulding, of the Dominion Air Board, who has arrived in the city, is to be appointed director of civil flying operations in the west, according to an announcement made by Air Board officials. His office will be in Edmonton.

U.S. Objects To Salmon Treaty

Declare It Would Benefit Canadian Fishermen Only.

Washington.—The pending treaty between the United States and Great Britain to regulate salmon fishing in the waters of British Columbia and the state of Washington would operate to the detriment of the Canadian fishermen and the United States fishermen, the senate foreign relations committee was told by Governor Hart of Washington, and Senator Jones of the same state.

The witnesses declared that the treaty would regulate fishing only in parts of Canadian waters, while it would restrict fishing in all Washington salmon waters. Governor Hart said the state of Washington had enacted new laws, which would protect the salmon.

Why
"Auto-Shoes"?

We figure that any automobile casing has a right to be called a "fire"—whether it's good, bad or indifferent. And we agree with the opinion that an exceptionally good casing deserves a distinctive name.

Ames Holden "Auto-Shoe" tires are better in performance than ordinary tires. That has been proved to our satisfaction. So we think it's a good idea to identify each unusual mileage given by an easy-to-remember name—"Auto-Shoe."

The main purpose of the name is to help you to get cheaper mileage. The guarantee behind Ames Holden "Auto-Shoe" tires is that you get a tire. If necessary an adjustment should ever arise you will find that you will get satisfaction without trouble or red tape.

They are the principal advantages that go with the name Ames Holden "Auto-Shoe." Drop in and let us show you the tires themselves.

Census To Be Taken
Next Month.

enumeration would disclose a population well in excess of the 6,000,000 mark. But when every living human was counted, even to the dog-eating citizens of the Arctic fringe, it was found they totalled 5,371,000, and no more.

A tragic incident which must be taken into account in any forecast of present population is that between the years 1911 and 1918 fifty-five thousand of Canada's native and adopted sons marched off into the fog of war and never returned.

Census taking in Canada is a tremendous task when the area to be covered is taken into consideration. In no other country on the face of the globe is the situation quite the same as in this Dominion with its centers of dense population strung along a southern fringe 3,750 miles long and its whole nine million or more inhabitants scattered over an area of 3,729,662 square miles—slightly less than three persons to the square mile of territory.

But Johnny Canuck is not interested solely in counting the members of his family. He is as well curious to know what their aggregate wealth amounts to, net wealth in paper bank notes and metal coins, but the real and potential wealth that those things merely symbolize such as land, implements, machinery, livestock, etc., and the various products brought forth from or through them. Finally, which the sixth census will incorporate are population, general agricultural schedules, records of garden production and livestock in cities and towns and records of trading establishments in the Dominion, including stores, factories and all kinds of businesses.

If the plans of the minister of Trade and Commerce, Sir George E. Foster, and Dominion Statistician E.

H. Coats are carried out successfully this will be the most rapid and accurate census ever taken in the Dominion. While the census commissioners will be less in number this time, the number of enumerators employed will be greater. In 1911 the government appointed 264 commissioners and 9,762 enumerators were employed by the latter; whereas this year 240 commissioners have been appointed and these are empowered to employ 11,500 enumerators. In all but ten electoral districts a single commissioner is in charge and the ten larger districts have been divided and apportioned each to two commissioners, there being 230 electoral districts all told in Canada. All the commissioners are appointed by the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Commissioners are responsible to the department for the work of the enumerators employed under him.

Police and Factors Help

Canadian statistics in the hinterlands and unorganized territories of the Dominion are also taken care of on the co-operative basis. Members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Hudson's Bay factors and missionaries have been officially appointed by the Department of Trade and Commerce to take the census in the far flung sections of the Dominion. Indian agents will take the census of the Indian reserves in a co-operative arrangement being entered into by the Bureau of Statistics with the Department of Indian Affairs similar in nature to that existing between the bureau and the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics possesses inquisitorial powers in its quest for information from the public in general, and the co-operative departments, census commissioners and enumerators, during the performance of their duties in connection with gathering statistics, are clothed with the same powers to compel answers; a refusal therefore on the part of any citizen of Canada to answer legitimate questions asked by a qualified enumerator would constitute an offence against the state. The enumerators, however, are only empowered to ask such questions as appear on the census forms they carry with them and every bona fide enumerator is supplied with a credential card bearing the signature of R. H. Coats, Dominion Statistician.

Six official forms are being used in the sixth census and they are entitled "Population," "Animal, Animal Products, Fruits, Etc., Not on Farms," "Census of Agriculture," "Individual Farm—Population," "Census of Manufacturing, Trading and Business Establishments," and "Supplemental Schedule for the Blind and Deaf Mutes."

The form entitled "Population" demands the name of every person in the household, place of abode, tenure and class of home, personal description, nativity, citizenship, race language, religion, education, profession, occupation and employment. The head of the house must tell whether he owns or rents the home, and, if rented, what rent he pays a month, the materials of construction in the house and the number of rooms in the house occupied by the family. The ages of every member of the household on their last birthday must be given as well as a statement as to whether married or single. Under the head citizenship, the country to which the individual owes allegiance is demanded as well as his or her racial origin and the language he or she can speak. Citizens of Canada born in other countries must tell the year they immigrated and the year they naturalized. The enumerator will demand to know in each case whether the individual can read and write, and in the case of children of school age, as to the number of months they have attended school since September, 1920. Besides enlightenment the enumerator as to the occupation from which he gains his livelihood, the individual must tell how many weeks he or she was unemployed during the twelve months prior to June 1st and his or her total earnings in the same twelve months.

The form coming under the title of "Animals, Animal Products, Fruits, Etc., not on farms," demands very definite information regarding stock of all kinds owned by the individual including horses, mules, cattle, swine, poultry and bees, and the total products in the way of milk, butter, eggs, honey and wax produced during the year. Ages of the stock must also be given. Areas of gardens and hot-houses, value of flowers and flower-beds, number of fruit trees and fruit produced are among the questions asked, while grapes, strawberries and other small fruits are taken up similarly under a separate head.

"Catechism" for Farmers

But it is the farmer, under the head of "Census of Agriculture," who has the longest list of questions to answer when the enumerator comes around. Every agriculturist in the land must reply as truthfully as he can to no less than two hundred and twenty questions on this form alone besides giving the information asked for regarding himself and the members of his family in the "Population Form". It is, however, explicitly set forth on the "Census of Agriculture" form that all information reported on that schedule will be treated as absolutely confidential and that such information will not be used as a basis for taxation nor communicated to any assessor or other government department.

Census To Be Taken

The farmer must tell how he operates his farm, whether he owns or rents it, and in the latter case, how condensed on folders which are to be left with boarding-house keepers, mining superintendents, constable for foremen, etc., for the use of individuals in their care or employ who may happen to be absent when the enumerator calls. Refusal or neglect on the part of any such individual to fill in the form will be punishable by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars and costs, or twenty days' detention, or imprisonment from thirty days to three months.

The "Census of Manufacturing, Trading and Business Establishments" is the simplest of all the forms. It merely calls for the firm name, address, class and kind or nature of business.

Records show that census were taken of Port Royal in 1605 and Quebec in 1608, the records still being extant. The first systematic "nominal" enumeration of the people of what then comprised "white Canada" recording each individual by name, showing age, sex, occupation and conjugal and family condition, however took place under the French regime in "New France," as Canada was at that time known in the year 1666. The results of this official inquiry occupy 164 pages of manuscript deposited in the archives of Paris, France, with a transcript of the same at Ottawa. According to this, our earliest census of a comprehensive nature, there were living in Canada on that date, 3215 souls, exclusive of Indians. Two years later a supplementary inquiry was instituted to gather data as to the areas under cultivation and the numbers of live stock in the possession of settlers. A similar census was taken of Acadia (Nova Scotia) in the year 1671. Such was the satisfaction over the first official census, taking that the process was repeated several times during the subsequent hundred years and it was extended to cover all the French colonies in America.

Later, under British rule, following the British conquest in 1763, censuses of different sections of Canada were taken at frequent but irregular periods. The policy of desultory censusing ended in Canada in 1847 and a decennial census was provided for by act of parliament. In 1865, however, the minister of agriculture, Hon. T. D'Arcy McGee, made a withering attack on the mode of census-taking in vogue, insisting that it "abounded in inaccuracies and inconsistencies" as well as "absurdities of the most ridiculous character," notwithstanding that over $20,000 had been expended on the preparation of the two first attempts at a decennial census. The report of Hon. Mr. McGee concluded with a plea for "true Canadian statistics" to be achieved under more reasonable conditions. Recommendations largely form the basis for the census-taking used in the Dominion today. Dr. J. C. Tache, secretary of the board of registration and statistics who appended a memorial to Hon. Mr. McGee's report and to whom no doubt the minister was indebted for most of his information, was made commissioner of the census of 1871, taking under a special act passed in 1870. But from a legislative point of view, the statistical system which existed until 1918 may be said to date from the "Census and Statistics Act" of 1879, an act that required a census to be taken in 1881 and at the beginning of every tenth year thereafter.

The "First" and "Second" Censuses

What are officially known as the first and second censuses of Canada were taken in 1871 and 1881 by Dr. Tache, the third in 1891 by the late George Johnson, the fourth and fifth in 1901 and '11 by the late Dr. Archibald Blue; while the sixth or present census, considerably revised by a system by reason of the provincial and other departments taking over the gathering of certain statistics annually, is being prosecuted under the supervision of Dominion Statistician R. H. Coats.

Didsbury. The funeral cortège taking some minutes to pass a certain point, the large attendance amply testified to the esteem in which Mr. Finlay was held.

Parker R. Reed returned from a short visit to Ontario on Saturday night where he was called on account of the sudden death of his father. On the sudden death of his father who was taken ill one morning and was dead before night, Mr. Reed attended the funeral.

The King Hiram Lodge No. 21 A.F.A.M. and A. M. Didsbury, are holding an informal at Home on Wednesday 1st, June, at 8 o'clock in the Opera House. All Masons, their families or friends, and Eastern Stars, their husbands, wives or friend are invited to attend. The evening will be spent in cards and dancing and other programs, tickets $1.50 per couple, refreshments free.

Here It Is at Last

The story that can't be beat! It comes from Iowa: Seven years ago a farmer hung his vest on a fence in the barnyard. A calf chewed up a pocket of the garment in which was a standard gold watch. Last week the animal, a staid old milk cow, was butchered for beef, and the time piece was found in such a position between the lungs of the cow that the respiration—the closing in and the filling of the lungs—kept the stem-winder wound up, and the watch had lost but four minutes in the seven years!

Mr. Paul Spink, of Calgary, was visiting friends in town on the 14th. Miss Pearl Ruby was visiting in town on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Geddes of Calgary were visiting friends in Didsbury over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Coffey and two little daughters of Calgary, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Odmond.

Correspondence has been received from Elkinton and Bergen this week but unavoidably has to be left out.

Messrs C. Studer and J. Brett motored to Calgary over the week end.

Among the smiling faces on the 24th, we noticed that of Mr. Ed. Clemens of Calgary,

Dr. G. M. Reid, Mrs. Reid, Dr. A. J. Wear and Alf. Studer all motored up from Calgary on Tuesday, returning again on Tuesday night.

The many friends of Mr. Alf. Studer will be very glad to hear that he is getting along fine after his recent serious operation and that he expects to be able to come home about a week's time.

Don't forget the auction sale of town lots at the Town Secretary's office on Saturday. These offerings comprise some good buys and will be worth more than the upper price.

The first summer holiday was a splendid day and everybody took advantage of it to get out into the open as much as possible. It was a real honest-to-goodness Alberta sunshiny day.

BORN—At the Didsbury General on May 23rd, to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dipple, a son.

He Will Get You.

The slackers try to dodge him, and they know him when they can, But the widows and the orphans bless the life insurance man!

So when this fellow tackles you, perhaps you'll make a fight, But deep down in your gizzard you will know that he is right!

So think up all your arguments, oppose him all you can.

But in the end he'll get you, will the life insurance man!
